NDP to Tories: Come clean on dirty tricks

► Tories pleaded guilty last year to topping campaign spending limit in 2006 ► Accused now of using 'robocalls' to mislead voters

Prime Minister Stephen Harper insists the Conservative party had nothing to do with a dirty-tricks campaign aimed at discouraging opposition supporters from voting in last spring's election.

But New Democrats and Liberals say the latest revelations are more proof that the Tories have subverted the democratic process in order to win elections.

The opposition charges came Thursday after a company that did campaign work for Conservatives, including Harper, was linked to harassing or misleading automated phone calls received by voters in some 18 hotly-contested ridings before the May 2 election. Edmonton-based RackNine Inc. confirmed Thursday that Elections Canada and the police are investigating.

The opposition has compared the matter to the Watergate scandal that toppled U.S. president Richard Nixon. New Democrat MP Pat Martin predicted the magnitude of the scam "will be enough to make Richard Nixon blush."

But Harper said the phoney calls were not a Tory tactic. "I have absolutely no knowledge on anything about these calls but, obviously, if there's anyone who has done anything wrong, we expect that they will face the full consequences of the law," he told reporters during a visit to Iqaluit.

No pay raise for doctors, McGuinty says

Premier Dalton McGuinty is sending a strong message to Ontario's doctors that they aren't getting a pay increase as his government struggles to eliminate the deficit.

The Liberals made it clear during last fall's election campaign that they'll "hold the line" on pay hikes for physicians, he said Thursday as labour negotiations with doctors got underway.

"Now we've got to make some choices as to where we put the next few precious dollars in health care," he said.

"And if I give them to Officials from the London Health Sciences Centre and St. Joseph's Hospital declined comment, referring questions to the Ontario Hospital and Ontario Medical associations.

physicians, that does not improve the quality of care."

Ontario doctors are "relatively well paid" compared to their counterparts across the country, he said, and the money could be used to pay for other things, such as vaccinations or home care.

The Ontario Medical Association (OMA), which represents the province's doctors, called the comments "disappointing."

The government can't take credit for successes in the health-care system — such as reducing wait times — and then turn around and suggest that doctors who provided the services aren't bringing any value to patients, it said.

"The government can't have it both ways," OMA president Stewart Kennedy said in a statement.

"Ontario's doctors are seeing more patients and providing more services and procedures than ever before in order to meet the needs of patients and it is unfortunate that the government has decided to malign this hard work through the media."

Wait over at Electro-Motive plant

► Severance deal approved with 95 per cent of union members in support ► Requires picket line outside the plant to be removed

@METRONEWS.CA

Electro-Motive Diesel workers said they're grateful for the terms of a severance agreement approved Thursday.

Still, some said, it doesn't make moving on any easier or less unnerving.

"I thought I was going to retire here. My wife has leukemia. When all this (severance) runs out, who pays the bills? Who pays the meds?" John Doucet, 48, of London said, tears welling in his eyes. "Right now, she don't need them — thank God. But who pays them? Stephen Harper won't do it. He don't care."

Under the agreement, the plant's about 450 help workers.

For Doucet, the severance works out to about $25,000 before taxes. He credited the Canadian Auto Workers with "going after" Caterpillar — Electro-Motive's parent company — to reach a deal better than the minimum allowed under labour laws.

In Ontario, the minimum equates to one week's pay for each year worked and would have seen Doucet receive about $7,000 before taxes.

The deal gives the plant's owners until Sept. 30 to finish outstanding production work and dismantle the facility, which closed Feb. 3.

Robberies might be linked: Cops

London police are investigating three pharmacy robberies Wednesday that appear to be connected.

Police were called to the Guardian Pharmacy at 2530 Main St. in Lambeth at 2:12 p.m. A suspect pulled a gun and left the store with an undisclosed amount of drugs.

At 6:27 p.m., a robbery occurred at Ernest Pharmacy at 1408 Ernest Ave. Again, a suspect had a gun, this time demanding cash. At 7:36 p.m., a similar scene played out at Jalna Pharmacy at 1286 Jalna Blvd.

There were no injuries in these robberies.

Police said there are two suspects: A white man about five-foot-five and 150 pounds, and another white male, five-foot-four and 185 pounds, believed to be in his mid-20s.

Online-learning proposal gets mixed reviews

► Some student groups say initiative tabled to government would 'hinder,' not 'help,' students ► Lack of student, faculty input a concern, some say

@METRONEWS.CA

Veronica Barahona doesn't like the idea of forcing Fanshawe College students to take online classes.

That type of learning, she said, isn't for everyone and could cause a lot of problems for some, especially older students who didn't grow up in the digital age.

"Online learning works great for some people ... but others are more visual learners and feed on being with others (in a classroom environment)," said Barahona, president of Fanshawe's student union. "You're setting ... people (up) to fail. That's not really fair if you want students to grow and learn from their environment."

Needless to say, Barahona isn't necessarily cheering about a policy report urging government leaders to move more college and university courses online.

The report, prepared for the ministry that oversees post-secondary education, calls for students to take up to three courses out of five online each semester. The courses would be offered through each institution and the province's long-promised Ontario Online Institute.

While a national students' group has spoken out against the idea, not everyone's convinced it's all bad.

Patrick Searle — speaking on behalf of Western's University Students' Council and the Ontario Undergraduate Student Alliance — thinks the proposal is aimed at expanding "online learning options, not necessarily moving courses online.

3x3

Dubbed 3x3, the proposal also recommends:

- Emphasizing three-year undergraduate degrees.
- Bulking up the summer semester to promote year-round schooling.

"Students certainly support an expansion of online learning, though not necessarily at the expense of current physical classes, for which demand is expected to rise in the next five years," he said in an email.

Knights stay loose and motivated

The London Knights find themselves in an enviable position as the 2011-12 regular season winds down. The team (42-13-0-1) has already clinched a playoff spot and, barring a collapse, will most likely be the top team in the Western Conference.

"At this point in the season, less is more," said assistant coach Misha Donskov.

"We've shortened up practices considerably (under an hour) — keeping the morale upbeat, and making sure our messages to the guys are short and concise."

The coaches are constantly fine-tuning the team's systems, preferring a nip-and-tuck approach rather than full-blown invasive surgery.

"It's no secret that if you want to go deep into the OHL playoffs, you've got to have good special teams," Donskov said. "That's one of the areas we've really keyed on. And making sure the guys play a full 60 minutes and they're accountable in all three zones."

► Tyler Ferry

That being said, the players are teenagers, and all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

The last practice before a game, all players and coaches participate in a team shootout to keep things light. And players often stay on the ice after practice for some impromptu games.

"We'll break into groups and play two-on-two, or have some fun with the goalies," said defenceman Tyler Ferry, 19. "It keeps everyone loose; if we're all too serious or too business-like, you forget to have fun."

"If you don't have fun, you're not going to play well." ● MIKE ARSENAULT

ELECTRICITY: DRUMMOND REPORT

No early end to rebates: McGuinty

Ontario's cash-strapped government will not follow a recommendation to save $1.1 billion a year by eliminating the 10 per cent rebates on electricity bills earlier than planned, Premier Dalton McGuinty said Thursday.

The Liberals introduced the so-called Clean Energy Benefit Jan. 1, 2011, to offset the impact of the costs of rebuilding the aging power grid and of their green-energy policies, both of which were sending hydro bills soaring.

Economist Don Drummond's report on reforming government services to eliminate the $16-billion deficit within five years recommended scrapping the electricity rebates "as quickly as possible."

McGuinty had his own take on Drummond's recommendation.

"I read that particular section with interest and I think the advice as I interpret it is: 'Don't end it any later than you'd originally planned. If you can end it sooner, fine,'" McGuinty told reporters.

"We don't intend to end it any sooner."

The Progressive Conservatives said if McGuinty wants to reject Drummond's ideas for saving money, he should come up with some other way to pay for them, but wouldn't say if they supported continuing the energy rebates. THE CANADIAN PRESS

When we say that the all-new 2012 Toyota Camry Hybrid is the best choice in its class, we're saying it for good reason. As you'd expect from Toyota, its class-leading city fuel consumption rating of 4.5L/100km, combined fuel consumption rating of 4.7L/100KM and 2.5 Litre 200-horsepower engine give you both fuel savings and incredible off-the-line power. It also has 371 Litres of cargo space and standard 10 airbags – which is a lot more than the competition can say.

Feds dole out $27M for adult education in North

► PM to boost employment skills for high school dropouts in Arctic ► Critics say more money needed

Prime Minister Stephen Harper flew to a frigid Iqaluit to deliver $27 million for adult education in the North, an attempt to help high-school dropouts qualify for jobs.

The money will be spread over five years, and shared by three colleges, one in each of the territories.

"By improving access to adult basic education, we are giving Northerners the tools they need to seek higher education and secure employment in sectors that contribute to Canada's economic growth," Harper said in a statement.

Part of the funding was announced in last June's budget, which put $9 million over two years to adult basic education. Thursday's announcement extends the funding time frame and increases the annual allotment slightly.

Harper has frequently stressed that education levels among aboriginal peoples need to improve if they are ever to find prosperity. But he is under intense pressure from native leaders to ante up serious money.

That pressure may have persuaded Harper to spend a day at a short news conference and a photo op on the ice at -26 C.

Back in the south, the Liberal aboriginal affairs critic called Harper's announcement paltry compared to the needs of the North.

"The prime minister's drive-by announcement today provided nowhere near the kind of resources for education, social housing, mental health, drug treat-

- Inuit Tapiriit Kapanami, a non-profit group, has estimated that only a quarter of Inuit students finish high school.
- The 2006 census suggests the level is about half that. Regardless, the graduation rate is drastically lower than that of the rest of the population.
- Nunavut Arctic College is receiving $11 million of the funding. Yukon College is getting $300,000 so far and can apply for more over the coming five years. And Aurora College is getting $620,000 with the potential for more.

The Afghans' furious response to the Qur'an burning — three days of riots in several cities — reflected the anger at what they perceive as foreign forces' disrespect for Afghan laws and culture.

In a letter sent to Afghan President Hamid Karzai, Obama expressed his "regret and apologies over the incident in which religious materials were unintentionally mishandled," a White House spokesman said.

'Draconian' cuts not for us: Flaherty

PAWEL DWULTY/THE CANADIAN PRESS

► Finance Minister Jim Flaherty answers questions from members of the media in Toronto on Thursday.

- Budget won't follow Europe's lead
- Yet agencies told to tighten belts

Ottawa will take a moderate approach to government cost-cutting in the budget instead of following in Europe's austerity-driven footsteps, Finance Minister Jim Flaherty said Thursday.

"We are not one of the countries, many of them in Europe, that have run up deficits for a long period of time, accumulated substantial debt and must really act dramatically — some of them in a draconian way," Flaherty said.

Flaherty's comments seemingly run counter to signals that he's preparing a painful, cost-slashing budget next month. Government departments and agencies have been ordered to cut spending by up to 10 per cent.

Few details of the cuts have been made public. Opposition parties are calling on the Conservatives to come clean about their plans to curb costs.

"You never quite know what their political game is," said Liberal treasury board critic John McCallum. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Keystone is inevitable: Governor

Montana's governor says the Keystone XL pipeline from Alberta's oilsands to the Gulf Coast will eventually be built, and he blames the delay on "jackasses" in Washington who have only recently discovered the issue.

"Ninety per cent of these jackasses that are complaining about the Keystone pipeline in Washington, D.C., one year ago wouldn't have even known where the Keystone was," said Gov. Brian Schweitzer, a Democrat.

A decision on the pipeline, which would extend an existing oil line that delivers crude to the U.S. Midwest, was delayed until early 2013 to work out a new route.

METRO

Journal of Sexual Health recently published research that states, "Condom misuse is an epidemic." Kinsey's Richard Crosby went so far as to say, "We underestimate how complicated condom use can be." Really? Have we tried funding an organization that prevents dummies from having sex?

2 Roll up the RIM: This week RIM announced the launch of its BlackBerry PlayBook OS 2.0. It includes many things that should have been on the original, but they are still slightly behind their competitors, primarily pertaining to apps. My thought? How about an app that teaches people how to use a condom?

3 Sorry Charlie: Charlie Sheen wrote a letter to Ashton Kutcher, apologizing for recent "disrespectful" comments. Sheen's management stated, "Why is anyone still listening to Charlie?"

4 Auto child: Toronto couple Robbie and Esther Stern gave birth to a baby boy in the front seat of their Dodge Avenger. What happens now? Do they get free Dodges for life? Is the kid automatically born with a driver's licence? Free gas? Either way, it'll make a great ad: "Dodge Avenger: From one generation to the next!"

5 Wise-guy witness: After years of suspicion that organized-crime groups were controlling public-works contracts in Quebec, an inquiry has finally been launched. Now Quebec is asking the public to help gather evidence via anonymous email or toll-free phone calls. In unrelated news, the Canadian government has cut funding to the witness-protection program.

6 Dating for dummies: Canada is on the reality-show bandwagon: Canada's Got Talent airs next week, and auditions for The Bachelor Canada are underway. Next, I suggest a combo show wherein the bachelor actually chooses his companion based on her talent. Women can juggle, dance or sing (my money's on the contortionist). Hey, maybe they can finally find a partner for Susan Boyle.

7 Poetic justice: A fugitive, who had been convicted of 12 counts of sexual misconduct with a minor and who had appeared on America's Most Wanted, was arrested in Montreal upon returning from Venezuela. He lived in Vancouver for 10 years under an assumed Canadian identity. With a 169-year sentence looming, he probably felt he should take time off to travel. Let's hope he's imprisoned alongside other most-wanted criminals. That's something I'd pay to see.

8 Academy Awards: A word of advice for the Oscars. If you win the award for best short film, please ensure your speech is shorter than the actual project.

9 Here's lookin' at you, Kid: Native Montrealeers lost an icon last week when Gary (The Kid) Carter passed away at age 57. In 2003 he became the first player to enter the Baseball Hall of Fame as an Expo. The bond between Carter and Montreal was so strong that, even after playing for three other teams, he returned for one final season in 1992. He will be dearly remembered, and forever missed. RIP.

MIAMI BEACH. Fancy joining the jet set? Well, it wouldn't hurt if you got yourself this water-powered jet pack, demonstrated here at the Yacht & Brokerage Show in Florida this month.

The JetLev R200 toy for big boys propels fliers nine metres in the air by sucking up water from the sea and blasting it back out. MWN

"When I was 14, I watched James Bond fly a jet pack in Thunderball, and had then dreamt of flying one ... so I decided to invent a machine (for) mainstream personal flight."

CANADIAN INVENTOR OF JETLEV

► To fly, just add water.

1,000 gallons of water is pumped through the jet pack every minute — that's a staggering 16,000 cups of water.

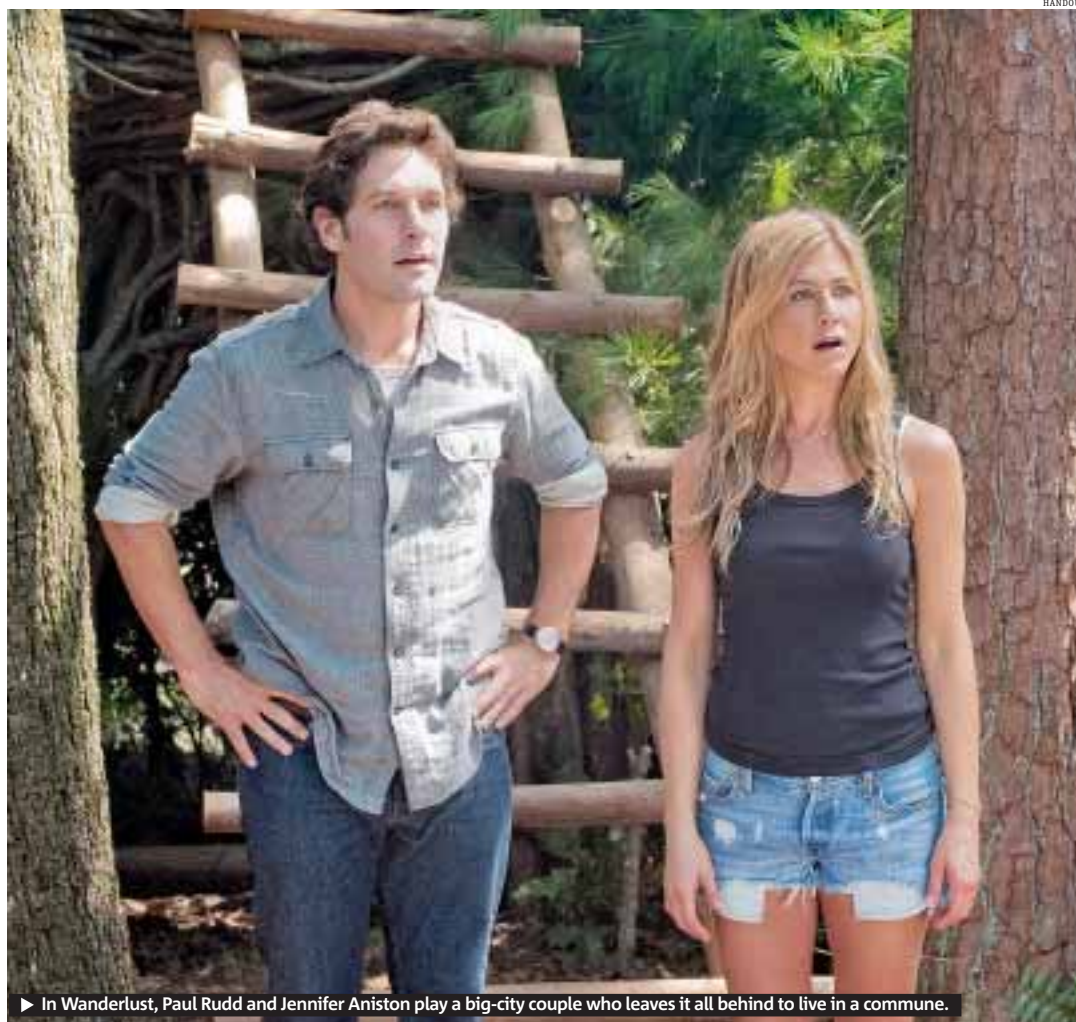

Synopsis

Jennifer Aniston and Paul Rudd play a big-city couple forced to downsize when he loses his job and her documentary is rejected by HBO. Forced to sell their apartment and faced with the prospect of working with his idiot brother, the pair go adopt a hippie lifestyle and move into a free love commune.

Hippie hilarity

► Wanderlust is the funniest movie since Bridesmaids, says Richard Crouse

► The cast and script bring a freshness to the hippie satire

Richard: Mark, Wanderlust is something we haven't seen for a while — a Jennifer Aniston movie that doesn't stink. In fact, it's really good. Great supporting cast, loads of laughs and a great hallucination scene. The only thing that stinks is the hippie hygiene. What did you think?

MB: Ah, but most Paul Rudd movies are pretty good. He has a great track record of choosing good scripts, and Aniston had the good sense to attach herself to it. This is really one of the funniest movies I've seen in a long time. I started laughing at the opening scene in the realtor's office and didn't stop for 90 minutes. It's smart, well-cast, timely, and I can't find any flaws. If you liked writer/director David Wain's offbeat, loopy work in The State or Wet Hot American Summer, you're going to love this picture.

RC: Agreed. I haven't laughed like that in a movie since Bridesmaids last year. Rudd dies a mirror pep talk scene that is raunchy, funny and kind of surreal. Speaking of surreal, the hallucination sequence is trippy and hilarious. I've seen loads of drug scenes in movies but this one made me feel high ... with laughter.

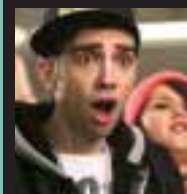

MB: The film feels like Martha Marcy May Marlene reimagined as a comedy with, yes, a Bridesmaids spirit. It's been a long while since we've seen a hippie commune satire, and it's long overdue. So much to like here — Alan Alda's acid-head paterfamilias, Malin Ackermann's love goddess, the nudist writer/winemaker, the boorish brother, his neglected trophy wife, and Justin Theroux as the cult leader lost in the '90s.

RC: I think the reason the movie works so well, aside from the very funny script, is that each of the characters you mentioned could have been the focus of the story and it still would have been a good movie.

There isn't a character in the movie that feels extraneous. Also, I loved the uber hippie jokes. Where else would you find a placenta as soup stock joke?

MB: Saturday Night Live had a 'placenta helper' mock commercial some time ago that was heavily censored. But you're right — the movie gets the details right. It's an ayahuasca ceremony that they take part in, peyote being so ... 2003. And maybe that's the thrill of finally seeing Ms. Aniston in a comedy that's not only funny but original as well. She's been performing for focus groups far too long. Wanderlust may be a Hollywood movie, but it has an indie sensibility.

Scene in brief

Alliance Films says the City of Toronto has removed 38 Goon posters ahead of the hockey movie's release Friday. A spokeswoman for Alliance says the outdoor ads feature Goon star Jay Baruchel "gesturing in a way that the city believes is inappropriate." The poster in question reportedly featured Baruchel making a sexually suggestive sign with his tongue and fingers.

Actress Pam Grier praises War Horse, Streep, Close and Davis ahead of Oscars

It's party time

► Project X director talks about his own days of partying ► Filming a bender isn't as fun as it seems

When I sit down to talk to British director Nima Nourizadeh at the W Hotel in Hollywood, there's a tray full of liquor bottles and martini-making tools on the table between us. It's not even 10 in the morning. "Do you want a drink?" he offers, before joking, "This is the second tray they've brought me, by the way. I've already had one." That sense of humour makes him a perfect fit for Project X, his directorial debut, about a teenage house party that gets beyond out of control.

This movie looked like a lot of fun to make for the actors

but a nightmare for the director.

I mean, honestly, it was one of the most challenging things that I've ever done. We had a short amount of time to shoot quite an insane movie. But it was like this controlled chaos, you know? It was a lot of fun, but you hit an age where you're just like, after one night of partying you just want to chill and watch TV. And for me it was like I had to keep the energy up for four and a half weeks of night shoots.

That'll certainly take a toll on you.

Oh, it did, it did. I had to stay in that schedule at the weekends as well. It was really quite an isolating experience for me. I came out here [from London] to shoot the movie, and for the time being I'm still here. I actually came out here to have a meeting, and I thought I'd be out here for a couple of weeks, and I never went back. Can you believe that? I didn't even have a send-off!

So how does the movie match up to your own party experiences?

I don't even know if I can even talk about it. (laughs) My party experiences tend to be I have an amazing time, and then I wake up. I literally wake up and I'm still at the party and no one else is there. That's happened to me loads of times, actually. And then you hear about what happened in that time period. Actually, that sounds a bit like the Hangover. (laughs) It's like people texting you and you're like, "Oh s—, that didn't happen, did it?"

Was there any concern about pulling back on content to get the R rating?

Me less than maybe the producers knew what we could and couldn't get away with. And on top of that we've got this realistic approach to the movie, so we have to touch on some things that maybe normally you wouldn't, like the drug use, some of the sex. I just wanted to do as much as possible, and I felt like kids today have seen so many things. It wasn't like when I was growing up — you had to get a VHS and that was the only way you would see some of this stuff. We didn't have the Internet. If you wanted to see some boobs you had to maybe watch a movie that was rated R. I just think this kind of material is so much more accessible to kids right now that it probably won't seem as outrageous to them as it does to someone my age.

Yet there's no cigarette smoking in the movie, from what I could see.

You might actually see one. (laughs) No no no. I'm not sure if it was a conscious thing or not, but we just never really wanted to show it. Like, there's nothing really glamorous about it — I'm not saying that everything else is glamorous, but there was no value in having any cigarettes. I don't think anyone was missing out on seeing a cigarette being smoked in the film. There was too many other things to keep your eye on."

Goon

Genre: Comedy
Director: Mike Dowse
Stars: Seann William Scott, Jay Baruchel, Allison Pill
Mike Dowse's mighty hockey comedy splits the difference between Slapshot (gory rink violence) and the director's previous Fubar films (well-meaning boneheads trying their best not so screw up). Seann William's performance as a bouncer-turned-enforcer is a beautiful balance of guilelessness and thuggery, and the script gives him and the other actors plenty of space to breathe while still squarely hitting the necessary sports-flick beats.

Good Deeds will make you laugh, but you'll be laughing at it rather than with it. It may also make you cry, but they will be tears of frustration at a story so predictable it makes the See Spot Run books seem complex by comparison. Director Tyler Perry is not doing audiences a good deed by releasing his latest film, Good Deeds, in general release. The melodramatic story of a rich man (Tyler Perry) who learns about love and life from a woman (Thandie Newton) who works for him isn't just a bad movie, it's what I call a 'seatbelt movie,' a film so bad you'll need a seatbelt to keep you from walking out halfway through.

Act of Valor

Genre: Action
Directors: Mike McCoy, Scott Waugh
Stars: Alex Veadov, Roselyn Sanchez
🌐🌐½

There's something simultaneously startling and uncomfortable about watching real-life Navy SEALs starring in a fictional action film based on their professional exploits: at times, Act of Valor feels like the live-action equivalent of a kid slamming his GI Joes together. The film is relatively well-made around its strange gimmick, and if it's unusually jingoistic by the standards of most post Iraq-war blockbusters, that's the whole idea: faulting the filmmakers for heroizing their subjects is sort of missing the point.

THE FUTURE OF THE REUNION TOUR

SOUND CHECK

ALAN CROSS
SCENE
@METRONEWS.CA

The music industry has been lousy at creating new legendary acts over the last dozen years.

Outside of Jack White and Coldplay, try to name more rock acts that emerged from the 2000's that have turned into old-school global rock 'n' roll superstars with long careers still ahead of them.

This has contributed to two things: Megatours by legacy artists (U2, Madonna, Rush, the Rolling Stones) and the explosion in reunions.

Ever since the Rolling Stones got back together for the Steel Wheels road-trip in 1989, there's been an increasing amount of money to be made in band reunions.

Unlike newer acts, these productions can fill arenas and stadiums. And when all the receipts are counted, everybody makes a LOT of money.

No wonder promoters are willing to drop their pants to put together insanelly huge offers for reunion tours.

► Black Sabbath cancelled its 2012 reunion tour over band member Tony Iommi's health issues.

But this well is starting to run dry as age takes its toll on the older and most profitable legacy acts. Black Sabbath (collective age: 252) had to cancel its 2012 reunion tour over Tony Iommi's health issues, leaving a potential gross of $170 million on the table.

This means there's more pressure for younger defunct acts to get it together again. Soundgarden, Jane's Addiction, Stone Roses and the Happy Mondays caved. The Van Halen brothers finally agreed to tolerate David Lee Roth for a little while.

How much money would someone be willing to pay The Smiths for them to get back together? Or better yet, how much money is there in a reunion of Appetite for Destruction-era Guns 'N Roses? If the Police grossed $350 million, what are the Gunners worth? $500 million? More?

Bottom line: I can see a GnR reunion in the near future. If not in 2012, then in 2013. There's just too much money on the line.

Producing 'dope' new sounds

GETTY IMAGES

▶ New film pushes Mark Ronson, DJ Premier outside of their comfort zones

PAT HEALY
SCENE@METRONews.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN BOSTON

It's not easy to throw Mark Ronson for a loop. Having produced such varied acts as Amy Winehouse, Duran Duran and Nas, he was eager to get involved in a fish-out-of-water musical experience like Re:Generation, the new film which pairs producers with unlikely musicians.

"I came from being a hip-hop DJ in New York, starting off in the '90s and that's what you did, you brought genres together," says Ronson. "That has always appealed to me."

For his part, Ronson brings one of his favourite backing bands, the Dap-Kings, to New Orleans to create a jazz song with Erykah Badu, Trombone Shorty, Mos Def and drummer Joseph (Zigaboo) Modeste.

"We were all pretty much just going into it with Zigaboo as a complete hero of all of ours," says Ronson. "The way he plays drums and his drum breaks from the early Meters stuff are pretty much the DNA of hip-hop and funk, and we were all excited beyond belief to play with him. And he still plays and sounds like he did on those records that we grew up listening to!"

Elsewhere in the film, DJ Premier (Preem) visits Boston to work with the Berklee Symphony Orchestra, Skrillex works with the surviving members of The Doors in Los Angeles, The Crystal Method go to Detroit to work with Martha Reeves of the Vandellas and the Funk Brothers, while Pretty Lights struggles to create something country with LeAnn Rimes and Dr. Ralph Stanley.

"I saw it in the trailer that there's a little tension and some serious culture and generational gaps going on, and I'm a little bit concerned that our thing is going to seem a bit boring," says Ronson, whose composition really does seem to come together quite organically. He says a key to the kinship was hanging out.

"We all just learned a lot and had a great time down in New Orleans," he says. "We went to this kind of alternative scene bar where like 80 per cent of the dudes had full face tattoos and they were playing this music called bounce, and we just absorbed all of New Orleans, not just its traditional culture."

Premier premieres

DJ Premier may have had the assignment that was least similar to what he regularly does. The hip-hop producer, known for his work with rappers like Snoop Dogg and Kanye West, had to create a piece of classical music.

"I really enjoyed having the chance to learn something new," says Premier. Granted access to classical greats, Preem sampled various composers to piece his ideas together. Then he collaborated with Berklee professor Stephen Webber, who transcribed the samples into written music.

"Working with everyone on this was just dope," says Premier.

Bobby Brown plans Whitney tell-all book

► Friends furious at his attempts to cash in on her death, ditching funeral

Bobby Brown is reportedly looking to write a tell-all memoir about his time with Whitney Houston — but it's not the first time he's had the idea, according to the Huffington Post.

"Back in 2008, the interest in a book on Whitney Houston wasn't that great. Whitney had fallen off the radar back then," a source says.

"But now, following her tragic death, the market has changed. Now is the time for a book that details an honest look into the life of Whitney."

Friends of the late singer aren't surprised by Brown's supposed interest.

Toasting the nominees

PETER ROCKWELL
LIQUIDASSETS@EASTLINK.CA
TWITTER: @THEREALWINEGUY

The last time I was on stage, I had a non-speaking role in a Grade 8 Christmas play. So, I guess you could say that I'm closer to a date with supermodel Kate Upton than I am to ever winning an Oscar.

That said, I've been addicted to the Academy Awards show since I stayed up past my bedtime to watch The Godfather Part II beat The Towering Inferno for best picture in 1974 (I'm still shocked).

With acting out of the question, I'm celebrating what's proved to be a pretty good year for movies by coming up with a liquid match for the front runners vying for the top prize this Sunday.

The Artist

What the heck? A black and white silent film from France is this year's best bet for Best Picture? Its late '20s setting made me thirsty for an ice cold martini made with France's best know neutral spirit Grey Goose Vodka ($44.99 - $49.99). Shaken, not stirred, of course.

The Descendants

Alexander Payne directed the now classic wine-themed Sideways. Celebrate his latest masterpiece (and George Clooney's great performance) with anything but merlot. Think a food friendly, Californian red like Robert Mondavi's 2008 Private Selection Pinot Noir ($15.95 - $19.99). My money is on The Descendants to win.

The Help

This excellent ensemble piece is set in the southern USA during the days when the Civil Rights movement was just getting going. American whisky is the tipple of choice in that part of the world so reach for a chilled shot of Maker's Mark Bourbon ($35.95 - $39.99). Scared of bourbon sans mix? Make the south's most famous cocktail: The mint julep.

Midnight In Paris

An American in Paris travels back in time to the City of Lights' heyday. Toast the return of Woody Allen with the old school, fruit-forward goodness of Georges Duboeuf's 2010 Brouilly ($15.78 - $22.49) from France's Beaujolais region. Baguette, optional.

Moneyball

Take Brad Pitt out to the ball game. Though Mr. Pitt's performance is champagne worthy, nothing goes better with this flick's sports theme than a cold brew. Crack open a can or two of Coors Light (15 x 355 ml, $22.32 - $27.29). PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS CANADA. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

Smoked Salmon Oscar Bites

► This recipe makes 24 bites.

The Academy Awards is a pretty elaborate affair. So why not make your party just as fancy with these Smoked Salmon Oscar Bites.

The lemon works well to balance the smoked salmon.

Look for the little cups in grocery store shelves around the deli or in the cracker aisle.

These are also just as delicious on kettle chips for a quick change.

Smoked Salmon Oscar Bites

Preparation:

- Using electric hand mixer, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Beat in horseradish, shallot, capers, garlic, lemon rind and juice until smooth.

- Place croustade cups onto serving platter and pipe or dollop a small amount of the mixture into cups.

Ingredients:

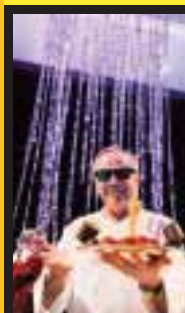

- 1/2 cup (125 mL) light cream cheese, softened
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) horseradish
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) minced shallot
- 2 tsp (10 mL) minced capers
- 1 small clove garlic,

minced

- 1 tsp (5 mL) grated lemon rind
- 1 tbsp (15 mL) lemon juice
- 1 box (40 g) siljans croustade cups
- 1 pkg (85 g) sliced smoked salmon
- 2 tbsp (25 mL) chopped fresh chives

Star dining

Governors Ball chef Wolfgang Puck has once again created a delicious array of dishes for the stars to dine on following the 84th Academy Awards.

This year, instead of a formal sit-down dinner, the chef will offer 50 dishes for a buffet-style event.

Among the delicacies are lobster, pot pie, gold dusted chocolate Oscars and more.

Sports in brief

Ottawa Senators goalie Craig Anderson is out indefinitely with a hand injury.

The Senators say Anderson accidentally cut his right hand while preparing a meal Thursday.

He was treated in hospital and is expected to make a full recovery.

The 30-year-old Anderson has appeared in 56 games this season, posting a 2.85 goals-against average and 29-19-6 record.

Darvish looks comfortable with Rangers

Yu Darvish pulled a blue long-sleeved Rangers workout shirt over his head and chatted up teammate Justin Miller as nearly everybody in the clubhouse eagerly watched.

Texas' prize off-season pickup looked plenty comfortable in his new surroundings on Day 1 for pitchers and catchers at Surprise Stadium, where dozens of Japanese reporters arrived early to record the right-hander's every move.

What's wrong with Caps?

► Ovechkin injury just part of collapse ► Meeting held to thwart 'mail-it-in' mentality

Alex Ovechkin is injured. A benched player is needling the coach. Players are talking about being outworked and not being mentally prepared.

The usually upbeat owner calls one performance "unacceptable" and all but declares the next game a must-win, only to watch it turn into another clunker. The coach's idea of a "solid game" these days is one in which the team falls behind after 10 minutes instead of the usual three or four.

Oh, yeah, and the trade deadline is a few days away.

Such is the state of the Washington Capitals, a team whose annual chase for a title is turning into a feeble attempt just to make the playoffs.

"We had huge expectations," forward Mike Knuble said Thursday. "And it hasn't played out the way we planned."

That's the exact sentiment the Capitals are usually uttering in April or May,

"The last two games, we weren't ready to play. We weren't prepared mentally."

DEFENCEMAN KARL ALZNER

after they've crashed out of the playoffs after winning the Southeast Division. This year, they are sitting outside the post-season — in 10th place in the Eastern Conference — after a road trip in which they lost their final three games by a combined score of 12-3.

With such signs that perhaps not everybody has their heart in it anymore, the players held their own meeting Thursday morning. It only lasted a couple of minutes, and, according to defenceman Karl Alzner, served to make sure that no one would be trying to "mail it in."

Ovechkin, who missed Wednesday's 5-2 loss at Ottawa with a lower-body injury, showed up early and skated laps by himself for about 10-15 minutes, but not at full speed. He didn't return for practice and did not speak to reporters. Coach Dale Hunter said the former two-time NHL MVP was day-to-day.

Ovechkin or not, the Capitals aren't going to win much if they keep falling behind.

"Teams are taking advantage of our slow starts right now," Alzner said. "And we're too fragile to be able to bounce back."

Kings land Carter in trade

The L.A. Kings acquired the centre from the Columbus Blue Jackets on Thursday night for defenceman Jack Johnson and a conditional first-round pick.

The deal is pending both players passing a physical Friday.

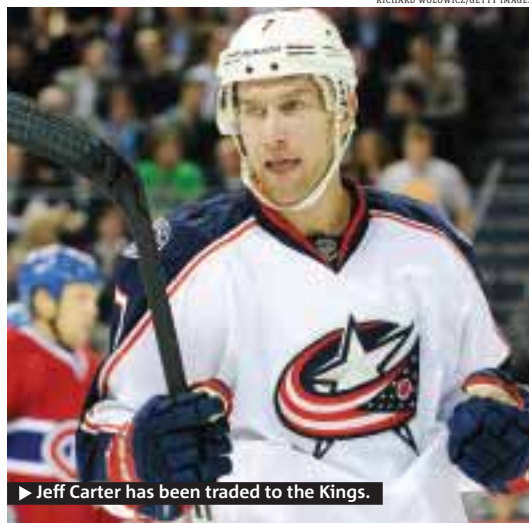

Carter, 27, missed 20 games this season due to a broken foot and a separated shoulder. He had three goals in the Blue Jackets' last game and has 15 goals and 10 assists in 39 games.

"I am obviously excited. I am familiar with the team and a lot of guys on the team," Carter said. "I looked at the Kings at the start of the year as being a club in a good position to win. I look forward to coming to L.A. and being a part of it all."

Columbus acquired Carter from the Philadelphia Flyers last summer for Jakub Voracek and first- and third-round picks in 2011.

He signed an 11-year, $58-million US contract with Philadelphia in November 2010.

"Jeff is a proven goal scorer in our league. He brings goal-scoring abilities, speed and at his age he is entering the prime of his career," Kings president and general manager Dean Lombardi said in a statement. "We also like his versatility as he can play both centre and wing."

The first-round pick Columbus acquired will be in either 2012 or 2013.

Carter, who has 368 points (196 goals, 172 assists) in 500 career games, joins a Kings squad that has scored an NHL-low 129 goals this season. L.A. entered play Thursday clinging to the eighth and final playoff spot in the Western Conference.

Carter has also appeared in 47 career playoff games, recording 21 points (13 goals, eight assists).

The move to L.A. reunites the London native with fellow centre Mike Richards. The pair helped the Flyers reach the Stanley Cup final in 2010.

Johnson, meanwhile, has eight goals and 16 assists in 61 games with the Kings in 2011-12. In 343 career games, the 25-year-old has 30 goals and 94 assists.

The Indianapolis native joins a Columbus team that sits last in the NHL and is clearly looking to rebuild.

Rumours continue to swirl that Columbus sniper Rick Nash could also be dealt before Monday's trade deadline.

As deadline draws near, Leafs keep on sliding

The Toronto Maple Leafs are giving Brian Burke plenty to think about ahead of the NHL trade deadline.

Patrick Marleau scored twice Thursday as the San Jose Sharks edged Toronto 2-1, sending the stumbling Leafs to their seventh loss in eight games.

Burke put the team on alert when he told a Toronto radio station Wednesday that he was in the market for a goaltender. Judging by the team's play of late, he probably won't stop there.

James Reimer earned the start in goal against the Sharks and did his part with 24 saves. However, his record fell to 11-9-4 on the season.

Marleau was the only player to beat him with a pair of second-period goals that lifted the Sharks (32-20-7) to their first win in five games.

Jake Gardiner replied for the Maple Leafs (29-25-7), who fell to 1-6-1 since Feb. 7.

The teams took some time to feel their way into the game, producing a tepid opening 20 minutes. But Marleau put the Sharks ahead early in the second period by quickly firing a Joe Thornton pass over Reimer's shoulder just 32 seconds in.

Burke will only get one more opportunity to watch his team before the trade deadline passes on Monday afternoon. The Leafs face Washington on Saturday night — and will likely have fallen outside of the top eight in the Eastern Conference when the puck drops on that one.

Positive tests for performance-enhancing drugs have been relatively rare under the MLB testing program, with just two others in 2011: Tampa Bay outfielder Manny Ramirez and Colorado Rockies catcher Eliezer Alfonzo.

Sample slip-up?

Ryan Braun's urine sample was collected Saturday, Oct. 1, the day the Brewers opened the NL playoffs.

- ▶ The collector didn't send the sample to the laboratory until Monday, thinking it would be more secure at home than at a FedEx office during the weekend.
- ▶ MLB's drug agreement states: "Absent unusual circumstances, the specimens should be sent by FedEx to the laboratory on the same day they are collected." ▶ "To have this sort of technicality of all technicalities let a player off ... it's just a sad day for all the clean players and those that abide by the rules within professional baseball," Travis Tygart, CEO of the U.S. Anti-Doping Agency, said.

▶ NL MVP relieved after 50-game ban overturned ▶ MLB management 'vehemently disagrees' with decision

Ryan Braun's 50-game suspension was overturned Thursday by arbitrator Shyam Das, the first time a baseball player has successfully challenged a drug-related penalty in a grievance.

The decision was announced Thursday by the Major League Baseball Players Association, a day before the 28-year-old outfielder was due to report to spring training with the Milwaukee Brewers.

Braun's urine tested positive in October for elevated testosterone. ESPN revealed the positive test in December.

Braun has insisted that he did not violate baseball's drug agreement.

"I am very pleased and relieved by today's deci-

"I have been an open book, willing to share details from every aspect of my life as part of this investigation, because I have nothing to hide."

RYAN BRAUN

sion," he said in a statement. "It is the first step in restoring my good name and reputation. We were able to get through this because I am innocent and the truth is on our side."

MLB executive vice-president Rob Manfred said management "vehemently disagrees" with Das' decision.

Travis Tygart, chief execu-utive officer of the U.S. Anti-Doping Agency, called the decision "a real gut-kick to clean athletes."

During the hearing, Braun's side challenged the chain of custody from the time the urine sample was collected by Comprehensive Drug Testing Inc. to when it was sent, nearly 48 hours later, to a World Anti-Doping Agency-certified laboratory in Montreal, two people familiar with the case said. They spoke on condition of anonymity because the hearing was supposed to be confidential.

Das, baseball's independent arbitrator since 2000, informed the sides of his decision and has 30 days to provide a written opinion.

Today's horoscope

♈ Aries March 21-April 20

You have so many good things going for you that you don't need to waste time on schemes that are unlikely to ever come true.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21

Life is too short to waste time arguing over trivial things, so ignore people who try to involve you in fights that don't matter.

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21

Your mind is forever on the move and at least one of your ideas is touched by genius.

♋ Cancer June 22-July 22

Someone needs your help but is afraid to ask. You know who he or she is. Make the first move.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug. 23

The answers you get today may not be the answers you want but they are the answers you need to hear.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24-Sept. 22

You are in a hole and no amount of wishful thinking is going to get you out of it. It is time to get practical.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23

If you are going to make the most of your talents, you need to stretch yourself — not just physically but mentally, too.

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22

The planets indicate you need help today but you may be reluctant to ask because you don't like to be in anyone's debt. You won't be.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec.

Think carefully before making major changes over the next 24 hours. You should be aiming for evolution, not revolution.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20

You need to be careful when dealing with both financial matters and affairs of the heart.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18

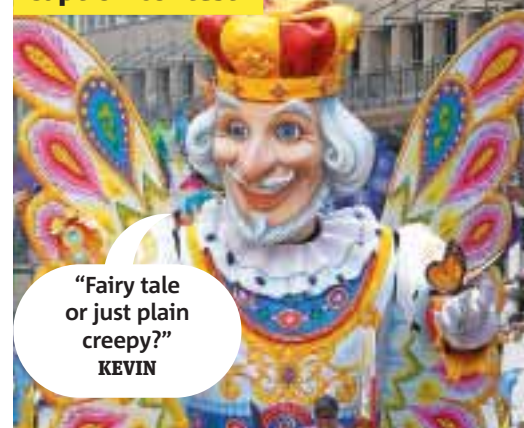

Some people are being unnaturally nice to you, making you wonder what they are up to. There is nothing they can do to hurt you.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20

There's a danger you'll end up partying with the wrong sort of crowd, but so what? SALLY BROMPTON
